

Skills, Knowledge & Experience

Sue has twenty years experience in community development, regeneration and youth work in voluntary, public and private sector contexts including:

- Focus on developing individuals, groups, organisations and partnerships.
- Specialising in developing action research projects to embed reflection and learning and sharing of skills, knowledge and experience.
- Extensive experience in research and devising research methodologies.
- Good communicator and facilitator with the ability to present information in a range of different formats.
- Teaching, training and staff development skills.
- Highly committed to developing good practice in equality and diversity.
- Senior management of voluntary and community organisations.
- Project management of many domestic and European regeneration projects.
- Capacity building for Local Strategic Partnerships and Neighbourhood Management Partnerships and Community Empowerment Networks.
- Area action planning including housing, health, education, training, employment, enterprise and community safety.
- Sue is a qualified community and youth worker and has a BA in Sociology and Gender Studies, an MA in Gender Culture and Development (First Class with Distinction) and is currently studying for a PhD in Community Development and Regeneration at Durham University.
- Sue is the current Vice-Chair of Urban Forum, a national organisation seeking to influence Urban Policy for the benefit of communities and neighbourhoods.

Sue's fees are highly competitive fees and negotiable rates are available for voluntary and community sector organisations and groups.